

BREAK TO SHARPEN

DO YOU? PENCIL + FIXED SHARPNER

The sharpener and the pencil are two intimate objects that relate each other in perfection, work so well together that could almost be a male and a female of any animal species. Interestingly here too the female has a life expectancy greater than the male...

The idea of securing the edges to the pencil without invalidating their use from the object, is the challenge facing the user, whether is available for sacrificing rendering it useless forever.

This pencil is also a metaphor for today, where the disposable waste and are often seen as useful without even questioning about the costs that they pose to society and the environment.
